Here you can see how beautiful nature looks in the spring. Flowers and trees begin to come alive again after being asleep all winter.

Help Earth Stay Beautiful

One of the biggest threats to Earth is pollution. Factories burning coal for electricity and cars using oil for transportation are just some of the harmful threats to our air and oceans.

Some ways that we can protect our environment are to recycle, reuse, and reduce the amount of trash we throw away. Everyone can participate and take part in making sure the trash is put in the right places. We can recycle lots of materials including paper, plastic, and metal. It can all be reused to make new things.

We only have one Earth that is our home and we need to make sure it stays healthy and happy. Spread the word and encourage others to help.

Spring is Here!

Spring is finally here and the weather is getting warmer and sunny. Time to take off the coats and winter clothes in favor of some cool comfortable outfits to walk around in.

Lots of colorful plants and trees are coming back to life after laying dormant for 5 months in the cold. One of the prettiest trees to see is the cherry blossom tree. This tree blooms in mid-April and has pink and white pedals that fade away after 2 weeks.

There are some great holidays in spring as well that are worth celebrating and enjoying. Easter is one of the biggest and is fun for the whole family. Colored eggs and bunny rabbits everywhere. Be sure to pull out your green for St. Patrick's Day and celebrate with friends.

Kids helping to recycle in their local neighborhoods. They find good ways to reuse and reduce trash and pollution.
