

The STORY

Activity with Dice
Halloween Edition

DIRECTIONS

Role Story: The writing activity with dice is an excellent way to get your students imaginations going for a writing assignment that is determined by the role of a die.

It is a simple game that is easy to follow for elementary school students.

- Step 1: Have student's role the die to determine what character they are. Repeat this action to determine the setting of the story and other elements such as where, when, what, and why.
- Step 2: Once the students each have the basics of their story determined they can write them down on the story outline cards provided.
- Step 3: Finally students should use the writing paper to construct a story with a beginning, middle, and end.

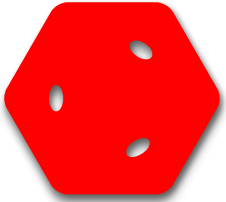

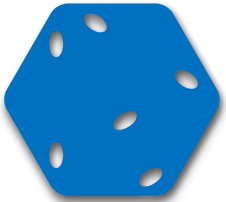

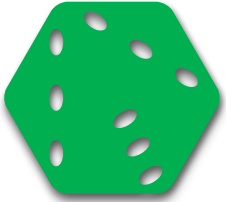

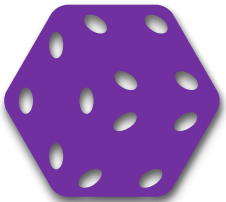

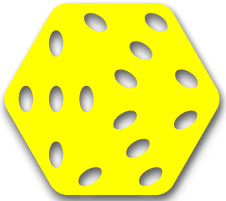

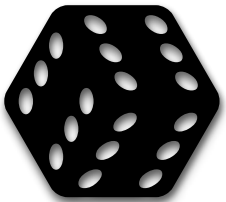

This is the Halloween Edition of the game. It can be played with any subject and reused in multiple classes. It is a good way to help students along who have a difficult time with creative writing assignments and can help them produce some fun, imaginative stories.

Number	Character	Where	When	What	Why
		In a dark, misty forest with many large trees and plants. Scary animal noises can be heard howling.	In the evening around 6pm. The sun is setting in the distance and a cool wind can be felt in the air.	People are excited and happy to go to a party.	They love candy and want to get lots of it.
		In a dark, smelly alley with a single street lamp and a pile of trash.	In the early morning. The sun is just starting to peak over the horizon and the air is chilly.	An old car is driving down the street slowly.	They were lonely and wanted to make new friends.
		In an old, abandoned house at the end of the street. The only lights on are the ones coming from the attic.	At midnight. It is pitch black and almost nothing is visible.	A young girl is walking her dog outside.	They were feeling sick and needed help.
		In an empty playground with the swings being gently pushed by a light breeze.	In the middle of the afternoon at 3pm. The air is warm and humid.	An old man is calling someone from a pay phone.	They were greedy and loved money. They wanted to get rich.
		In a classroom with no windows. There are chairs and tables scattered in the room and an old chalk board in the front.	On a lazy Sunday night after a long weekend.	A young boy is standing in the hallway holding a book.	They were sleepy and needed to rest.
		On a small boat at sea. The waves are crashing hard against the haul and it is raining.	On a Friday night after school.	A black cat is sitting and watching everything that is happening.	They were weak and wanted exercise to get stronger.
